

"It is in the act of seeing ourselves objectively that something lets go in us: a new possibility is created when we allow the grace available in the moment to touch us. We discover that at our deepest we are not our personality. When we experience this truth, transformation becomes possible."

—from Discover Your Personality Type
by Don Risco and Russ Hudson

For participants:

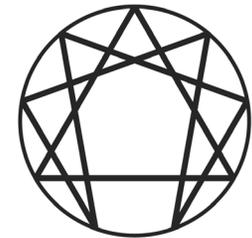

- Participants must take the free sample inventory of the Enneagram (or the more accurate $10 version) before the retreat. Find the inventory at www.enneagraminstitute.com.
- Please bring a printout of your "scores" to the retreat. It is important to have a good sense of your Enneagram type before you attend the retreat.
- PTS students on the weekend meal plan can get their lunch in the dining hall. Others should bring a brown bag lunch or indicate on the registration form that they wish to buy lunch in the Seminary dining hall.

For more information about the Enneagram, go to www.enneagraminstitute.com.

"My work with the Enneagram has had an impact on me far greater than I ever could have imagined. It has given me a new and powerful direction for exploring my own spirituality and my deeper self. I am excited to be focusing my energy on teaching the Enneagram and sharing this jewel with others."

—Lynda Roberts

At this retreat, you will

- * Be introduced to the Enneagram as a tool for ministry
- * Embark on a journey to self-discovery
- * Reach a deeper level of compassion as you learn about the nine Enneagram personality types
- * Explore your own spiritual journey as you see yourself, and others, more clearly
- * Learn the strengths, stresses, and habitual ways of doing, thinking, and feeling that arise from your personality type
- * Have fun!

About the Leaders

This retreat will be led by the Reverend Susie Smith and Ms. Lynda Roberts. They have enjoyed teaching the Enneagram together during their thirty-seven-year friendship.

Susie Smith was a Presbyterian minister for twenty-two years, and served local congregations, taught religion, and worked as a college chaplain, and with homeless women in Washington DC. Her story of leaving the Presbyterian denomination is told in the award-winning Covenant Network video "Turning Points." She moved her ordination to the United Church of Christ in 2003, served a church in Pennsylvania, and in 2007 moved to South Carolina to start a new church, Peace Congregational Church (UCC) that she now serves as pastor.

Lynda Roberts was an executive with a major telecommunications company and then formed a management consulting practice. She recognized the potential of the Enneagram as a tool for self-awareness and development and became certified through the Enneagram Institute. She is now a member of the institute's faculty and conducts Enneagram workshops for businesses, teacher and parent groups, and faith-based communities.
