The following breadth requirements are fulfilled by designated courses that are elective courses or courses that meet departmental distribution requirements: Eight credits in Integrative Studies (course suffix “is”). The purpose of suffixes is to assist in making the program of study taken over three years more integrated than a simple accumulation of credit-bearing courses. They ensure that the course of study includes at least some elements deemed especially important in the education of Christian leaders and witnesses in the contemporary world and therefore that the educational and pedagogical principles underlying the Master of Divinity properly reflect the mission of the Seminary.

Students in the Master of Divinity degree program are required to take at least eight credits in course suffixed is. Courses qualifying for this suffix will expressly draw on two (or more) customarily diverse disciplinary areas, and include opportunities and requirements for students to integrate these different areas in the understanding of a single major topic, or group of related topics.
