An independent study is defined as study, which is given initial faculty guidance, followed by repeated, regularly scheduled individual student conferences with a faculty member. The faculty member provides periodic as well as final evaluation of student performance. Students should expect to devote a minimum of 3 hours per week for each credit hour of independent study, or at least 9 hours per week for a 3 credit independent study.

Independent Study Instructions:
Outline the essential content of this course including the requirements established for its completion (use back if necessary):

Why, in your judgment, should this course be offered? Include evidence that it is credibly related to a theological program, that the material it embraces cannot feasibly be covered as part of a catalogued course during the remainder of your program.
